THE 13TH ASIAN INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON FLUID MACHINERY

Background

This conference is a continuation of the preceding twelfth conferences that have been held in the name of Asian International Conference on Fluid Machinery. The first conference was held in Beijing in 1984. And, it has developed from the fourth conference (1993), which was held in Suzhou, China, as an Asian international conference though the start was held in two countries of Japan and China. The fifth to twelfth conferences were held in Seoul, Korea (1997), Johor Bahru, Malaysia (2000), Fukuoka, Japan (2003) Yichang, China (2005), Jeju, Korea (2007), Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia (2009), Chennai, India (2011), and Yogyakarta, Indonesia (2013). Asian Fluid Machinery Committee (AFMC) was established during the 9th AICFM 2007 held in Jeju, Korea.

At the conference, keynote lectures delivered by worldwide fluid machinery specialists will be made to introduce the outstanding achievements in various fluid machinery areas. The conference is organized by AFMC.

Objectives

- To promote a platform for sharing of knowledge among researchers in the field of fluid machinery
- To encourage partnership between academic and industry
- To discuss the role of fluid machinery in light of sustainable development, depletion of conventional energy sources and environment challenges
- To establish and strengthen the Asian and regional networking

Scope

The scope of this conference includes the all areas of various fluid machines as follows:

- Compressors
- Fans and Blowers
- Flow meters and valves
- Gas and Steam Turbines
- Pumps
- Hydro Turbines
- Wind Turbines
- Propellers
- Flow Meters and Valves
- Vessels

- Design, Optimization & Manufacturing of Turbomachinery
- Control, Operation, Monitoring & Diagnosis
- Theoretical, Experimental & Computational Fluid Dynamics
- Measurement Technology
- Cavitation & Two Phase Flows
- Vibration and Noise
- Rotor Dynamics
- Tribology

Organized sessions in several fields will be arranged by next announcement.
